Yet there's not one person in fifty who takes proper care of the bowels. And the result of this foolish neglect is nine-tenths of all ill-health. If today you are unable to free your body of waste matter at the usual time, or if the act causes straining, and discomfort, don't let that condition account for a serie for the same bounds can carry away the pains and discomfort, don't let that condition occur again tomorrow. Unless your bowels can carry away the waste materials left after food is digested, decay sets in, the poisons of which, taken up by the blood, increase the risk of Typhoid Fever, Appendicitis, and many other serious diseases.

In treating constipation, there is a right way and a wrong way. The wrong way is to take harsh purgatives which even though they do clear the bowels, cause griping and nausea, injure the delicate tissues, and so disturb the normal functions as to cause the return of constipation. The right way is to help Nature to produce natural movement, without pain or discomfort, by using

THE "FARM PRODUCTS POST"

Is Designed To Cheapen The Country Marketing For Urban Consumers.

APPLIES TO ONLY TWO ZONES

Washington, March 16 .- Postmaster General Burleson has amplified the parcel post by the establishment of a "farm products post," which can be utilized by farmers and truckers for the shipment of crates of butter, eggs, vegetables, dressed poultry, weighing between twenty and fifty pounds, directly from the farm to the city kitchen. The service, which was announced by the Postmaster General to-day, is provided only for the first and second zones, a distance of approximately 150 airline miles.

Under the new regulations boxes and crates, similar to those used in the express service, when packed with farm products, will be carried outside mailbags and promptly delivered to the city consumer.

The "farm products post" is created fo the pupose of opening p a cheap marketing avenue between the truck gardener and the city_consumer with a view to reducing the cost of the table in populous centers. Investigations show taht food products for which the farmer receives $3.24 on his farm are retailed in the city for $5.55 under the present

It is the idea of Post-office and Agricultural Department experts, who have been studying this problem that the farmer will accept $4.25, postage prepaid, for the articles of food which he sells to the commismerchants for approximately $3.24 and for which the city consumer pays $5.55. If he does, the city consumer will save about $1.25 on every market basket costing under the old system $5.55.

The Post-office Department, in the statement, declares that the new regulations should prove a "boon to farmers and truckers." Under the old regulations the crates and boxes of farm products had to be securely packed and were limited in size so that they could be placed in mailbags.

Under the new regulations the ordinary crates used for the shipment of butter, eggs, fruits, berries, vegetables, dressed poultry and other articles by express will be acweight of these crates is not fifty

Subject To Them Than Before.

IT BRINGS OUT TUBERCULOSIS

The whole theory of vaccinations and serums is wrong. It insures us against catching one disease only to make us doubly liable to catch others, particularly tuberculosis. This is the startling warning just given out by Lieutenant Colonel Charles E. Woodruff, retired from the United States Army Medical Corps, one of the greatest sanitary authorities in the world.

Most human beings have a natural resistance to tuberculosis and with ordinary good fortune and attention to our food and surroundings we can fight off the white plague till old age or some other cause brings us to the grave.

Vaccination gives us immunity for awhile at least, against some one specific disease, such as typhoid or smallpox. This would be very well indeed if we did not have to pay for it by losing part at least of our natural immunity to tuberculosis.

In quoting other authorities Dr. Woodruff said in a recent paper:

"Le Tulle tells me that all serums and vaccines will cause incipient cases of tuberculosis to get worse. Dr. C. H. Spooner, and Louis and Combe, assistants to Vincent at the Val de Grave in Paris, have noticed that anti-typhoid vaccines bring out any latent or chronic disease, particularly tuberculosis. The latter states that vaccine acts like tuberculin, and that they have thus been

This was known long before the days of serums, vaccina-AMONG COAL MINERS tions and antitoxins. It was guessed quite naturally that the ravages of typhoid weakened the system to such an extent as to lay open to inmittee of the coal operators and the vasion by the germ of consumption.

tack, but the regular task of producing adrenalin becomes a burden

Sudden deaths from so-called 'heart failure' after the crisis is passed, the fever gone and the patient obviously on the road to health, are as common as they are perplexing. The reason for these 'heart failures' during convalescence is now known to be exhaustion of the suprarenal glands, which have finally, after winning the battle against the microbes, failed in their other tasks of supplying adrenalin to make the heart beat.

Diphtheria probably throws the most violent strain of all on these glands, but fortunately it is not so prolonged as in typhoid.

Vaccines and serums have their effect by stimulating in the body the conditions which are found in the disease they are meant to prevent. The suprarenal and other glands are deceived and set to work furiously in a life-and-death effort to produce antitoxins. These antitoxins give the body immunity against the real disease at almost as great cost in exhaustion of the glands.

This is why serums and vaccinations are followed by increased death date, by tuberculosis and other disease. It is suspected that the recent increase in cancer, as well as the grip tuberculosis has on the modern human race, is largely the result of the world-wide vaccination against smallpox.

If this theory is correct it is evident that no person with weakness of the heart or any inclination toward tuberculosis should risk his health to the great strain of vaccination or serum treatment as preventives of disease.

A patient who has already contracted a disease such as diphtheria may wisely use serum, because it is a choice between the greater evil and the disease itself and the lesser one is the serum .- [New York American.

WHO NEVER SAW A COW

Asks $50 For Month's Work On a Farm-Dealing With Workless Men.

Fonda, N. Y., March 21.-Fifty of the seventy unemployed New Yorkers, who came here yesterday as the first installment in Governor Glynn's campaign to place the city's workless people on upstate farms, were lodged to-day in the village engine house. Only 20 of the 70 arrivals accepted offers of employment with farmers, although the wages farm hands here.

The 50 who are idle are dependent on the townspeople for shelter and food.

The neighborhood farmers do not colonial bed, coal oil stove, safe, six appear enthusiastic over their new help, as the men are absolutely ignorant of farm work.

> Then men demand $45 a month and maintenance, while the farmers offer only $20 for men with no experience and $25 for those who have worked on farms before. A tailor, who had never seen a cow or live fowl, was willing to become a farmer for $56 a month, $25 of this in advance. He failed to convince any prospective employer. Several others were willing to work, but could not get up before 9 a. m.

> Deputy State Commissioner of Agriculture C. W. Larmon, who was in charge of the men, would not say this morning what would be done with those who did not secure work. Fonda residents are fearful that they will be left here. The men are getting restless.

POPULATION GAIN IN KENTUCKY IS MEAGER

All the Southern States and Most of the Others Surpass It.

The Courier-Journal says: During the decade from 1900 to 1910 Kentucky's population increased only 142,741, or a gain of 6.6 per cent. In the same period Tennessee gained 8.1 per cent.; North Carolina 16.5 per cent.; Mississippi 15.8 per cent.; Alabama 16.9 per cent.; Georgia 17.7 per cent.; Arkansas 20 per cent.; Louisiana 19.9 per cent.; Texas 27.8 per cent.; Florida 42.4 per cent. All the Southern States surpassed Kentucky in population gain, some of them very largely

Of the States which adjoin Kentucky, Missouri gained 6 per cent.; Tennessee 8.1 per cent.; Indiana 7.3 per cent.: Ohio 14.7 per cent.: Illinois 16.9 per cent.; Virginia 11.2 per cent.: and West Virginia 27.4 per cent. It will be seen that all the surrounding States increased their population at a greater per cent. than Kentucky, with the single exception of Missouri, where the rate

In all the forty-eight States of the Union only four States showed a lower percentage of increase than Kentucky, and these States are Nev Hampshire, Vermont, Missouri and Iowa. In Missouri the difference is not material. New Hampshire's gain was 4.6 per cent, and Vermont's was 3.6 per cent. Iowa was the only State to show an absolute loss of population, the decrease amounting to three-tenths of 1 per cent.

If fifty-one counties in Kentucky, according to the census figures of 1910, the rural population showed a decrease, and in one county there was a decrease in both urban and rural population. Most of the population that was gained in the decade was due to the growth of the cities, rural population increasing only about two-thirds as rapidly as the population of the State as a whole. The urban gain was at the

When the postmaster gets the desired information he will soon publish a small bulletin. These bulletins will be turned over to the city mail carrier, and one will be dropped in the letter box at each home in the city.

The city consumer can look over the list, pick out the names of farmers whose prices suit him, and then write a letter for furher particulars or to place an order. In this way the postal experts anticipate the opening up of trade relations between the producer and the city consumer.

One of the problems of utilizing the parcel post as a vehicle for the delivery of food products from the producer to the city kitchen has been how to get the two classe together. The above plan which will be utilized will be nothing more than an experiment. The postal experts, however, believe it will lead to the development of a better method.
